

nadine is an artistic organisation that moves within constantly changing artistic practices through continuous questioning of itself. nadine encourages alternative research formats for artists and collectives to work with. Currently these formats have been evolving into projects about mobility and performance, workshops for artists, site specific residencies and public presentations.