You are cordially invited as Artist to TypoJanchi 2013: Seoul International Typography Biennale, hosted by the Ministry of Culture, Sports and Tourism, and jointly organized by the Korea Craft & Design Foundation and the Korean Society of Typography.

As the only international biennial solely devoted to typography, TypoJanchi uniquely explores various intersections where the art of visible language meets other cultural areas—literature, city, music, film, politics and economy. The third edition of TypoJanchi is scheduled to open from August 30 until October 11, 2013, to which you are invited to contribute a work with a broad theme of typography as literature. With your invaluable contribution, TypoJanchi 2013 will be an inspiring place where designers from all over the world and the public can meet, share ideas and stimulate each other. We humbly invite you to take part in this important event.
